

COMPOUND CHEMISTRY

Compound Chemistry is a fusion project whose name does justice to the music they make.

The band was founded by the drummer Samperoli and emerged from his need of expressing himself musically after years working as session musician.

Supported by André Soares who took the role as arranger and guitarist, the band has been performing since 2023, being accompanied on stage by different musicians through out the years.

Compound Chemistry released their debut self-titled studio album on April 17th 2024, toured around Europe and The UK and got radio play in Austria and Germany.
